Tuesday, November 20. 1705.

Hague, November 17.

THE Count de Clermont, Minister of the Elector Palatine, deliver'd a Memorial a few Days ago to the States, in which he desires their High Mightinesses to forbid their military Officers to list into their Service any Deferters of the Troops of the Elector his Master. The thing appears just in it self, and formerly the States at the Instances of the Minister of Triers forbid their Officers to take into Service the Deferters of that Elector's Troops: But they have not yet return'd an Answer to the Count de Clermont. There is no Agreement made yet for 4000 Men, which their High Mightinesses desir'd the Elector Palatine to send in their Pay to serve under Prince Eugene in Italy; it seems his Electoral Highness demands some new advantageous Conditions on that Score, which make the States press the Matter the less urgently. The Weather being so very cold, that 'tis no longer apprehended the Enemy will undertake any Enterprize, Field-Marshal Monsieur d' Auverquerque has written to the States that he was about to make an End of separating the Army and sending the Troops into Winter-Quarters; which 'tis suppos'd was done Yesterday. Their High Mightinesses have sent for the Field-Marshal, and the Generals Slangenberg and Count Tilly, to come hither, to give their Advic (joynly with the Count de Noyelles who is here already,) in certain military Affairs. General Salisch is appointed to command this Winter the Troops quarter'd on the Maese from Huy to Grave: He is to reside at Liege, and to keep a watchful Eye on the Motions of the Enemy on that Part of the Frontier. The Count de Noyelles has the Command given to him of the Troops on the other Part of the Frontier; and is to reside at Bergenopzoom, and have an Eye to part of Brabant, Flanders and Zealand. The Zealanders have been alarm'd by a Rumour spread abroad that the Enemy were getting ready Boats and all things things necessary for making a Descent, and have thereupon written to the States for Aid. But it appearing to their High Mightinesses that there is no ground for that Rumour, they have judg'd it sufficient to send to Zealand only 2 Regiments, viz. those of Torce and Belcastel. 'Tis rumour'd likewise, that the Enemy design to throw up their Lines agen in the Winter, and to include Sout-Leeuwe in them, in order to make themselves Masters of it: Whether they have really such a Design, Time will shew. The Succession of the Bishoprick of Lubeck, is the Affair with which most of the Foreign Ministers at this Court are at present principally taken up. The Resident of Holstein gives out, that the King of Prussia has written a Letter to the King of Denmark, to acquaint him that he has determin'd to act as a Guarantee of the Treaty of Travendahl: The Minister of Sweden has inform'd the States, that the King his Master is resolv'd to perform the Part of a Guarantee of that Treaty, and hopes the other Guarantees will do the like: And General Bannier, Minister of the Prince Administrator of Gottorp makes pressing Instances to the States to perform that Guarantee. To other Day the Envoy of Denmark was invited to a Conference, by Deputies of their High Mightinesses, upon this Affair of the Bishoprick of Lubeck; but he answer'd that having no Instructions upon that Subject, he could only acquaint the King his Master with such their Proposal.

London, November 20.

In the Account given in Yesterday's Courant of the manner of the Prince Administrator of Holstein Gottorp's taking Possession of the Bishoprick of Lubeck, mention was made of his Highness's having satisfied the Chapter for the 2 Years Administration they claim on the Death of their Bishops. The following Piece (written on the side of that Prince) shews what his Party would have be understood to be meant by that 2 Years Administration.

The Case of the 2 Years Administration of the Bishoprick of Lubeck, which the Chapter have reserv'd to themselves upon every Vancancy of the See.

NOTwithstanding the Chapter of Lubeck, by their Agreement of 1647 with the House of Holstein Gottorp, have tyed up their Hands with respect to the electing their Bishops, they made a Capitulation however, by which they stipulated for themselves several Advantages at the Nomination of each Prince of that House, which Advantages may be term'd part ancient part new. Among the former is the Administration of 2 Years which the Coadjutor elect yields to the Chapter when the Episcopal See becomes vacant. But 'tis to be observ'd, I. That that Administration is to be understood of the Revenues only of the Bishoprick, not of the Government or Jurisdiction which the Coadjutors elect have always taken into their own Hands immediately on the Death of the Bishops, without the least Participation with the Chapter. And indeed, the Precaution of choosing an Elector would be absurd, were the Coadjutor oblig'd to be simply a Spectator and barely a Witness of what should be transacted for 2 Years after the Decease of the Bishop. II. That there is no Example of the Chapter's having taken upon themselves so much as the Administration of the Revenues of the Bishoprick, having always made over the same to the new Bishops for a certain Sum of Money; Witness Bishop John and his Successor lately deceas'd, who for the Sum of Sixteen thousand Crowns bought of the Chapter the said 2 Years Administration; and the present Bishop having follow'd their Examples, 'tis clear his taking Possession of the Bishoprick is no Prejudice (in this Respect) to the Rights of the Chapter.
